The view of the template is as if the journal was opened flat. The back cover is on the left, spine in the center, front cover on the right. Please be aware of this when creating your designs.

The green boxes on the template are the Safe Zones. Keep the most important elements of your design within the safe zones to ensure they are printed on the final product.

The outer red area is the Bleed Area. This area will partially show up on the inside cover of the final print. If you want the entire print area covered with artwork, please make sure you are extending your art through the bleed area.

A QR Code will print on top of your artwork. The area of the code is denoted on the back cover section of this template in black. We recommend to avoid having important information near this area.
